WHEN THE CHEERING STOPS

Now here is a Yearbook which is pictures for the most and apparent part. You can assume an air of nostalgia before finishing your perusal of it. Or you can raise a cynical eyebrow or two, muttering, "Man can live without love but not without water," mystifying your peers with your acid sarcasm, callousness, et al.

No matter, really, which view you take of our view of the view: Stoughton High is as firmly established (etc.) as Plimoth Plantation. And unless you feign amnesia from the age of nineteen onward, and convince yourself that you've had amnesia from the age of nineteen onward, you'll remember your alma mater till, say, senility—and then some.

The choice still remains: what to do with the memories. Personally, I just may save a few unused photos, paste them on my wall or hide them under my pillow for a rainy day. They make excellent bookmarks as well; especially if you tend to lose your sense of place.

Your Yearbook should not lie about, gathering dust year after year, until your future offspring find it. Yearbooks are fine places to press flowers and save four leaf clovers, for doodling in the margins; use it to bring you to the proper height for most efficient use of your typewriter.

By definition, Our Yearbook is relevant, whether or not you believe your education within Stotonian borders will have any bearing on your life. Four years of your youth were spent here. What did you buy with them?

(G. Frederickson)

-"listen: there's a hell of a good universe next door; let's go"
e.e. cummings

The antithesis of beauty is Stoughton Square. Physically, it exerts no compelling force over its teen-aged inhabitants that keeps them in Stoughton after graduation. Instead, the Square is so repulsive that it catapults Stoughton youth as far as Brockton, perhaps, or Randolph.

But why do S.H.S. students remain amid the injustice, problems, dirt and sessions, in a building not far removed from sordid, squalid Stoughton Square? Maybe there is a force that keeps them there. Could that force be other people?

Dear Members of the Class of 1972: It is with a great sense of personal and professional pride nat I extend my congratulations to you on the occasion of your raduation from Stoughton Senior High School.

This accomplishment is the result of much self-discipline on your part, and sacrifice on the part of your parents and guardians. The discipline required to acquire the knowledge of the subject matter presented to you over these many years will insure the ability to meet the future challenges. The financial and other sacrifices of your life's future challenges. The content of the your should be parents indicates their sincere love and concern that you should be afforded the best of all academic opportunities.

There is no need for me to point out how difficult the years ahead may be for all of us. You are well aware of the problems with which our world is confronted. It is my fondest hope that you will utilize the training and self-discipline you have expressed as a student to help solve these and future problems.

Only by an individual effort, combined with a sincere concern about society in general, will the world be changed. You, and you alone as an individual, have the ability to assist in bringing peace and harmony to the world.

On this, the happy occasion of your graduation, may I extend my sincere appreciation for the many contributions you have made as individuals and as a class. If in the years ahead I may be of any assistance to you, please feel free to call upon me.

Sincerely,

Joseph H. Gibbons

STOUGHTON SCHOOL COMMITTEE: Seated, Dr. Recupero, Mrs. Blomstrom; Standing: Mr. Gibbons, Mr. Rist, Dr. Harrington, Mr. Hill.

TO THE CLASS OF 1972:

The members of the Stoughton School Committee and I wish to extend to each of you our most sincere congratulations.

This past year has been one in which many of us have had new experiences and freedoms which in the past were traditionally rejected. It was a year in which we learned that by communicating with our fellow-man, we may see a clearing through the muddle of confusion that existed in the late sixties.

The age of the "grey-flannel suit" has finally passed on; the true spirit of man is emerging, and, best of all, is being recognized.

Yours is an exciting future. I trust that you will work to its perfection, and by so doing, help us attain a world of true peace.

The liberties you have been given must be guarded and protected with care and diligence. They must be respected and used with caution and intelligence.

How great and exciting will be the days and years of the future. Nourish them!

Now that the starter has fired his gun and we are off our marks, look back occasionally as each mile is passed and give thanks and praise, especially to your parents.

Remember, each of us in the community will be watching and cheering your efforts. Above all, remember that this race will not be won through the efforts of one man alone, but only with the cooperative efforts of all.

Good luck! May the Lord bless you!

> Dr. Thomas E. Recupero Chairman, Stoughton School Committee

TO THE CLASS OF 1972:

Congratulations upon the successful completion of your high school education.

You are aware of the new courses which were added to the program of studies. Some courses were dropped and others modified. In short, the educational offerings were in a constant state of change. With the rapidly changing technology, changes are necessary. The change process will continue. It will require the cooperative efforts of administrators, teachers, and students to make the school program relevant and interesting.

There are many new approaches which are being tried. Some of the new techniques soon to become widespread include bi-lingual offerings, team approaches to counseling, individualized programs, independent study, drug counseling programs, career explorations, vocational training programs, mini-courses, and citizenship training programs.

These offerings will require a more liberal approach to the scheduling process. Students will be expected to assume more responsibility and work more cooperatively with the staff to develop meaningful programs during these times of constant change.

You can readily see that your educational experiences in high school were different from those of your predecessors and will also be different from those who follow you. We hope that we have helped to prepare you to meet the challenges of your generation.

CAREER CONFERENCES

FUTURE TEACHERS

Students in the Future Teachers Club work in the Stoughton elementary schools during their last hour studies or H hour.

WORK-A-DAY

"Patience is a virtue," quotes Miss Mac, as she tries to keep her temper at a simmer. Nonetheless, the school thinks she's fantastic for trying to instill some spirit into its wilted enthusiasm: "Go out in the world and live!"

To seniors, if it's any compensation, Miss Lichtel says, "I like 'em, I guess. I like 'em better than last year's."

HOME ECONOMICS

Miss Driscoll is at odds with two aggravations: people who don't do dishes and the I Hate to Cook Book. She can be heard shouting, "Girls! Girls!" as she desperately (but patiently) tries to convert home-wreckers into home-ecchers in three easy lessons.

Not many of life's realities repulse Miss Boren any more than sloppy people and messy home-ec labs. She's a quiet person who sets an example for her students to follow, while ejecting an occassional "Keep quiet!" for emphasis.

ECOLOGY

"Echo I, the Pollution and Ecology Club, was started by a group of students concerned with the quality of our environment, which is being dangerously imperilled. If nothing is done of significance now, our generation will not have the freedom to lead a very productive and satisfying life; we will be denied the freedom to breathe clean aid and drink clean water and eat pure foods, which were always thought to be the natural birthrights of every human being."

In the vacant places
We will build with new bricks
There are hands and machines
And clay for new brick
And lime for new mortar
Where the bricks are fallen
We will build with new stone
Where the beams are rotten
We will build with new timbers
Where the word is unspoken
We will build with new speech
There is work together
A Church for all
And a job for each
Every man to his work.
